PRESS RELEASE

At about 1:40 pm on February 28, the Chetwynd Fire Department responded to a house fire in the Hayward Subdivision. The home was totally engulfed in flames when fire fighters arrived at the scene. The person living at the home narrowly escaped from the burning structure since she had been asleep at the time. The smoke detector is credited with saving her life. The home was totally destroyed and the tenant of the home was hospitalized for smoke inhalation and a fall she incurred as she fled the burning home. The cause of the fire is believed to be a smoker which was left on the deck beside the entrance to the structure. Mr. Don McKee of Chetwynd Water Services voluntarily delivered a tank of water to assist in extinguishing the blaze. All residents are reminded to check smoke alarms routinely because YOUR SMOKE ALARM MAY SAVE YOUR LIFE LIKE THE PERSON IN THIS HOME.

MEET THE MAYOR March 2, 2012

Probably the most famous census in history occurred about two thousand years ago when Rome's rule relentlessly governed the affairs of the simplest of its subjects. No one dared defy her decrees. And her rule all boiled down to money and power. How much revenue could Rome extract from its subject peoples? How much power could she exercise over the daily routines of her people? How much would it cost to build the military roads to keep its legions supplied? We've inherited much from Rome but the census was not new to that long-lived power. At least one census occurred a thousand years earlier.

What has changed in our enlightened, post-modern era? Not a whole lot. We count, but we put marks on paper or we digitize the information instead of pressing it into moist clay or scratching it onto parchment or leather, but we use the information in much the same way. We have just received the first return from the latest nation-wide census and it all boils down to money. How much money will we get from the feds? Not much. How much will we get from the provincials? Not much. And every grant is related to the number of souls the census counted within our District borders.

That last statement needs clarification. Let me clarify. There are scores (hundreds?) of people soundly sleeping within District borders who are not officially resident here. They drink good Chetwynd water, breathe sweet Chetwynd air, eat solid Chetwynd food, and send their money home to families scattered from Calgary to Thunder Bay to Halifax and Nanaimo. We do not resent their presence; in fact, we welcome them to our community. But we don't know how many there are. And there's the rub.

If we knew how many workers were domiciled within our borders, using our facilities, dreaming about moving their families to Chetwynd when they can find a place to keep the rain off their heads, if we knew how many workers are tired of frequent flying time and yearning for frequent family time, our planners would have the type of information that would be useful for making zoning recommendations and for advising potential developers.

Well, guess what. You just might open your door to a knock someday to be greeted by the smiling face of a census taker – our very own home-grown census taker. At the District office we are convinced of the utility of up-to-date data that gives us whole numbers in real time – numbers that will give us some idea of the count of workers who are potential long-term residents – numbers that we can depend on to tell us the truth about the stresses that we can expect to be placed on our infrastructure over the next five or seven years.

Canada's census might be fine for Canada but the information is too old and too esoteric to be useful to Chetwynd Council and the management and staff of the District Office.

Merlin Nichols, Mayor

*A woman got on a bus holding a baby. The bus driver said, "That's the ugliest baby I've ever seen."
In a huff, the woman slammed her fare into the fare box and took an aisle seat near the rear of the bus.
The man seated next to her sensed that she was agitated and asked her what was wrong.
"The bus driver insulted me," she fumed.
The man sympathized and said, "Why, he's shouldn't say things to insult passengers."
You're right," She said. "I think I'll go back up there and give him a piece of my mind."
"That's a good idea," the man said. "Here, let me hold your monkey."*
